The winners are the class at this or any other show of the association, had but two entries, and both were the property of Mr. Stotesbury. Rhea W., one of the best show mares in her class ever seen in the Garden, won the championship. Her mate, Alice Nun, won beaten by better horses.

The cadets of the graduating class at West Point visited the show yesterday afternoon. As usual, they were made a great deal of. Some promenaded around to be shown by a child, and appointments to count. the board walk and others had seats in the boxes. They dined in the restaurant as the guests of the association.

Jordan, who owns the Plymouth Hackney Stud, captured almost everything, and some of his horses were successful in the harness horse classes. With roadsters E. T. Stotesbury won everything. He captured the two championships yesterday afternoon. With ponies Thomas L. Watt, Mrs. John Gerken and Mrs. E. F. Hawley divided the ribbons pretty well between them. With saddles horses the biggest winners were Mrs. Thomas, Hitchcock, Mrs. J. M. B. Jordan, who owns the Plymouth Hackney ciates with children and the governess and the basket cart or miniature phaeton, were the special features of the opening classes yesterday. The first class, for little Shetland fathers, was captured by Mr. E. M. Hawley's invincible Bressay of Pittsford, a sturdy little brown of eight years. Mr. Thomas L. Watt and his son swept the balance of the ribbons, the former getting the red for the veteran winner Monte Carlo, now 15 years old, and the son getting the now 15 years old, and the son getting the vellow for Toronto, a skewbald, and the H. C. for Red Fox, a chestnut.

Father and son swept the entire list in the class that followed. It was for Shetand mothers or prospective mothers, and the blue knot went to Gladys, a really pretty bay, 40 inches. Martha M., a black of the same size, won the red. The yellow went to Donna Fortuna, also a black and one inch smaller, and the H. C. to Primrose, 42 inches. The attendance during the week has been quite large. On Monday and Tuesday nights rain kept the general public away and the galleries were only sparsely filled, but the members of society were out in force every night and they really saved the show for the association. JUDGES SELECT CHAMPIONS.

Important Awards Carefully Made on Final Day.

Genuine ponies, the kind that one associates with children and the governess and the backet cart or ministure uphaston, were for conformation, quality, manners and ability to carry the necessary weight. No jumping was required, according to condi-tions, but all were sent over the sticks. El Queso, the champion winner earlier in the day, took down the bars at both jumps but at the next attempt cleared beautifully. Lapidus laid each hedge in turn on the tanmisnamed chestnut, 10.1½ hands, received the red. The yellow went to Charles Holloway's Chimney Sweep, 16 hands, and the highly commended to the bay mare Madge, 16 hands.

Class 37, for pairs 15 to 15.3 hands, to city. That is what the conditiors called for. The sleek, plump horses, looking ready to send into a sake ring; the bright painted carts and shining trimmings of the harness that suggested the smell of the shop still lingered; even the snow white canvas covers, unstained by contact with the weather, and the carefully creased trousers of the drivers, suggested the filing out to begin a day of arduous duty—a scene familiar to every citizen.

Class 37, for pairs 15 to 15.3 hands, to be shown before a spider, T cart or phaeton, brought nine pairs of old favorites into the ring. William H. Moore sent in two pairs, Bugler and Fife, and Mark Antony and Octavius. Eben D. Jordan sent in his grand pair of chestnuts Hildred and Plymouth Champion. Dr. James Cattanach sent Gen. Miles and Gen. Custer., Stuart Duncan sent Magic and Caprice, grand little bays. D. G. Reid sent his pair of seal browns, Monroe and Capt. Barr. W. E. Woodend sent Paul and Snapshot. seal browns, Monroe and Capt. Barr. W. E. Woodend sent Paul and Snapshot. It a high class collection, but the fancied Mr. Moore's Bugler and File gave the blue knot to them. Mr. Jordan got the red for Hildred and Champion. The yellow went to Ebony Bell and Ebony Bell Boy, a pair of magnificent blacks from Grand View Farm, and H. C. went to Mr. Reid's Monroe and Capt. Barr. Class 48, for champion barness horses.

Class 48, for champion harness horses not exceeding 15.2 hands, winners at this tion, brought five grand exhibits into the ring. William H. Moore drove his Waldorf oup winner Forest King, Dr. Wentz drove Lord Brilliant, winner of the cup last year and the year before. Lord Golden, from the same stable, also was shown in last year's winners. G. Trowbridge Hollister sent Fascination, the handsome chestnut who had been a winner in Class 34. A. A. Housman sent Royal Flush, a winner last year.

In the showing around the ring the interest centred in Forest King, Lord Golden and Lord Brilliant. The latter had a lot of speed and trotted around the others time and again amid great applause. For LEHIGH DEFEATS OLD RIVAL. Final Score 12 to 6 in Game With Lafayette -Big Crowd.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Nov. 21.-Not less than 10,000 persons, an unprecedented attendance at a football game in a small town, saw Lehigh beat Lafayette 12 to 6 this afternoon. Lehigh fumbled the ball often, one fumble being costly. Lafayette seldom threatened Lehigh's goal, and her score was the direct result of fumbling. Both elevens played a hard smashing line attack in the first half with honors pretty even, but on the defence Lehigh excelled, holding Lafayette three times for first downs. Holding Lafayette of the game, two 20-yard end runs by Butler and Capt. Farabaugh, together with line plunges by Torrey and Landefeld, ad-

Butler and Capt. Farabaugh, together with a line plunges by Torrey and Landefeld, advanced the ball sixty yards. Then with a guards back formation, Coach Newton's hobby, the ball was pushed over, Capt. Farabaugh scoring the first touchdown and kicking the goal.

With Lehigh's star player, Butler, out of the game, he being disqualified by Umpire Bergen, Lafayette took on a new lease of life. Lehigh held Capt. Ernst's eleven for downs in short order, but a fumble by the Brown and White was Lafayette's only fruit. Ernst made a touchdown, kicked a goal, and it was a tie score. Toward the close of the first half the Easton collegians were far to the good in ground gaining, having an advantage of thirty yards when time was called.

In the second half Lehigh outplayed her old rival in every way. Twice Capt. Farabaugh tried placement kicks at goal from the field, missing both by a small margin. Then a quarter back kick was worked for a gain of twenty-three yards, and guards back plays rushed the ball over from the 20-yard line. Farabaugh kicking another difficult goal. In the darkness Lafayette advanced the ball only to be held on downs on Lehigh's 30-yard line. Two smart runs by Gott and Landefeld carried it to the centre of the field, when time was called.

UNION DEFEATS N. Y. U.

Most Stubborn Football Game of the Year on Ohio Field.

New York University met defeat at the hands of the Union College eleven on Ohio Field yesterday by a score of 11 to 0. The largest and most enthusiastic crowd of the season was on hand to see what proved to be the most stubbornly fought game that has been played on the local team's gridiron this year. Both teams played a remarkably strong defensive game.

Only once in the entire game was the New York team able to get within striking distance of the visitors' goal. That was late.

York team able to get within striking distance of the visitors' goal. That was late in the first haif when MacDowell got the ball on a fumble. With the ball on the 25-yard line Tuthill attempted a drop kick, but it was blocked.

The first score was made by Dann, after Union had carried the ball ninety yards by straight football without being held for downs.

straight football without being held for downs once in the entire journey. Cantwell and Tredick made the best gains on a play just outside of tackle. With the ball on their outside of tackle. With the ball on their outside of tackle. With the ball on their 5-yard line, the local team made a stand and held the visitors for no gain, but on the third down bann squeezed through tackle for the first score. Putnam kicked an easy goal.

Coe received the ball on the kick-off at the beginning of the second half and carried it to his 25-yard line. New York made first down on straight plunges by MacDowell and Tuthill, and a quarterback run by Hulsort. MacDowell got around end for three yards, and then New York lost the ball on downs. Union made four yards, but was then unable to gain an inch. Two end runs by Tuthill and MacDowell placed the ball on New York's 45-yard line. Union held here, and the local team was forced to yield the ball. Olmsted was sent around New York's right end for six yards, and on the next play Patton circled the other end for a run of forty yards and a touendown. He failed to kick a difficult goal.

Virginia "Poly," 11; Navy, 0.

ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 21.-Virginia Polytechnic Institute was Navy's opponents in the final game of the season on the local ground s to-day, and they were the victors by a score to-day, and they were the victors by a score of 11 to 0. The mere issue of the game, however, was outweighted in interest by the wonderful work of Carpenter, the right half back of the visitors, culminating in one of the most sensational plays in foot ball history. This was a goal from the field kicked from placement, which duplicated in every way the feat of De Witt on Saturday last, except that it was from the 46-yard line, and Carpenter was also the player who caught the punt and won his own free kick.

Englewood Women Defeat Men in Team Match-Travis Beaten.

The women's team of the Englewood Golf Club defeated the men's team of the same club yesterday by the score of 14 to 4. The men allowed one stroke a hole to their op-ponents on all but the four short holes, which were played even. The winning team was the same as that which won the Class B championship of the Metropolitan Golf Association. On Thanksgiving Day there will be an eighteen hole bogie handicap at Englewood for both men and women.

Walter J. Travis, amateur champion of the United States, was defeated in the semi-final round of the Garden City Golf Club's championship yesterday by C. B. Macdonald, by 1 up. The scoring was mediocre, Travis doing an 89. In the other half of the same round Arden M. Robbins defeated Devereaux Emmet, by 2 up and 1 to play. Robbins will meet Macdonald in the final thirty six hole round this week.

President Windeler of the United States Colf Association gave out for publication yesterday the following letter from John L. Low, captain of the exford and Cambridge golfing societies team during the American trip:

"Having brought myself at last to a state of rest, I amable to thank you and your association from this side for your manifold kindnesses to myself and to my team during our greatly enjoyed visit to America. From first to last we met with a hospitality and courtesy which exceeded even the traditions of your country: time and human endurance seem to be the only limiting powers to your goodness. And this happy feeling was the more enjoyable in that it came from officials and committees, from players and members of clubs—from all the people, in fact, with whom we came in contact.

"There was neither East nor West for us,

we came in contact.

"There was neither East nor West for us, but a simple uniformity of American good will, neeting us wherever we went and sending us forward to more friends and fresh thindness.

ing us forward to more friends and fresh kindness.

"I desire, therefore, to give you our thanks and to convey to you end your association expressions of our lasting gratitude and good feelings.

"If our visit has made for the advance of golf in America and helped in any way to further a noble recreation among a nation of workers, our journey and work will have been many times repaid. To yourself and your fellow workers in the United States Golf Association, to the clubs that entertained us, to the players that gave us such pleasant battles—to all the friends we made in your great country, I send greetings from the old country golfers to the new."

BAYSIDE, Nov. 21.—Justice O'Brien and Justice Gildersleeve were defeated in an 18-hole match at the Oakland Golf Club today by John H. Taylor, president of the club, and S. Osgood Pell. It was a unique foursome, the condition out of the ordinary being that only one club, a cleek, could be used. The four contestants played withtwo golf balls, and it was, as one of the Judges described it, an old fashioned foursome. It was an exciting match from the start, the contestants stubbornly fightling every inch of ground. Three holes were halved on the first round, three were won by the Justices and three were taken by Taylor and Pell, so that at the turn they were again on even terms. It was then that Taylor and Pell settled down to the best golf of the match. They won the long sixth, halved the famous punch bowl and won the match by taking the heavenly twins in par golf, winning by 2 up and 1 to play. The remaining three holes were halved, the winners doing the eighteen in S0, agains 92 for their opponents. Bogey is 82, and the quality of the golf is apparent. A large gallery of prominent men followed the match, which was the outcome of a discussion as to their relative merits at a dinner at the University Club. The gallery included among B. Brennan, Henry Haggerty and John Pierce. Another match over which there had been much discussion was that between John B.

MacDonald and Mr. Taylor. Darkness came very near putting an end to the match before it was finished, but it culminated on the fit-teenth green, Mr. MacDonald winning by sup and 3 to play. President Taylor, after being six down at the turn, made a plucky fight, but after gaining two holes on his opponent was beaten with but three more holes to play. Mr. MacDonald won more laurels by defeating Henry Haggerty by 3 up.

HOW DIXON WHIPPED PALMER. Ex-Featherweight Champion Proved the Better Puncher and Won.

According to the accounts of the battle between George Dixon and Pedlar Palmer for the 120 pound championship of England. which took place Nov. 9 at Ginnett's Circus, Newcastle, the contest was one of the best decided in England in years. The London Sporting Life has this to say of the milt:

Newcastle, the contest was one of the best decided in England in years. The London Sporting Life has this to say of the mill:

"The articles stipulated that the men should box at 120 pounds, but when they weighed out in the afternoon Palmer was found to be two pounds in excess of the specified poundage. Dixon lodged an objection at this breach of the conditions, but on the metropolitan depositing a 'tenner,' the Yankee conceded the extra weight. Pediar Palmer was seconded by Jack Palmer (Newcastle), Spider Carr and Tom Murphy, while Dixon's corner contained Andrew Tokell, Tibble Watson, (the Australian), and Jumper Howe. The popular parts of the house were crowded, and three-fourths of the higher priced seats were appropriated by an enthusiastic audience, but there was no wagering of any importance, offers to take $ to 1 on Palmer failing to lead to business.

"Gloves of six ounces in weight were worn, and the contest in the first ten rounds revealed some fine form on the part of Palmer, his leading, feinting, and characteristic slipperyness enabling him to run up a strong sequence of points. Time and again he delivered the left flush on the American's face without a response. Dixon, however, gradually became more aggressive, and was noteworthy for his powerful tactics in playing for the body. The operations of each combatant, however, lacked sting, and, though the work at times seemed fast and telling, the use of big gloves prevented any effective results. Dixon became very conspicuous after the tenth round, mixing it up in merry fashion and assuming a good lend. In the last four rounds, with surprising dash and eleverness, he was all over Palmer with both hands. The Londoner hugged his adversary persistently, and was feeble in guarding the rushes and powerful leading tactics of the famous Yankee, who was awarded the verdict amidst much enthusiasm.

"Palmer gave a very disappointing performance, and in addressing the house at the close said: 'I held the old man too cheaply, and I have been well beaten.' Mr. Lo

At the shooting tournament of the Crescent Athletic Club yesterday the race for the November cup resulted in a triple tie. Capt. A. W. Money, the veteran international shot.

A. W. Money, the veteran international shot,
A. G. Southworth and Lowell M. Palmer, Jr., made clean scores of 25 breaks.

Lowell M. Palmer topped his record for the season with some of the best shooting he has done in a long time. In a fifteen target shoot for a trophy he tied with L. C. Hopkins with 15 straight; and in the shoot off at 25 targets broke 25 to his opponent's 24. In the Sykes Team Trophy race, Palmer maintained his great average, being the only man to break 25 blue rocks in that event, and with his partner, Harry M. Brigham, winning the "leg" on the trophy with a team total of

Barnard Girls in Lawn Tennis Final. Tennis players among the girls of Barnard

Tennis players among the girls of Barnard College have just finished their annual fall tennis tournament played on Barnard Square, the field opposite the college. The final was fought out between Miss Edith Handy and Miss Jean Egleston, the former winning by 4-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Much interest was shown in this contest, as both players were former champions of the college. Miss Egleston played a swift low game and seemed particularly excellent in back line play. Miss Handy, on the contrary, played more of a net game. During the first two sets, Miss Handy was hard pressed, for Miss Egleston attacked well by her brilliant cross court work and back line play. In the end, however, Miss Handy's greater steadiness and good volleys told.

PROF. SQUIRES BEGINS CONTEST. Obtains Order for Recount of Ballots in Second Onelda District.

UTICA, Nov. 21.—Prof. William H. Squires $9.50, $10.59, $12.50, $25.00, $29.50 of Hamilton College, the Democratic candi of Hamilton College, the Democratic candidate for M mber of Assembly in the second Solid Gold Oneida district, to-day took steps to contest the reported election of Jay H. Pratt of Verona, the Republican non isee. Prof. Squires secured orders from Justice Rogers of the Supreme Court directing a recount of the ballots cast at the recent election in the Second and Third districts of the town of Kirkland.

Simultaneously, from Justice Scripture in Rome, Jay H. Pratt, the Republican nominee, secured an alternative writ of mandamus, returnable before Judge Scripture in Utica on Nov. 27, requiring the Board of Inspectors to bring into court the ballots of the S-cond district of the town of Kirkland for a judicial settlement. The Republicans claim Mr. Pratt's election by three majority, and say that a recount will increase his majority to at least fifteen.

HARMONIZER ODELL.

Hanbury Says Governor Wants to Reconcile City and Up-State Republicans.

Shipping Commissioner Harry A. Hanbury, the Republican leader in the Seventh Assembly district in Brooklyn, had this Assembly district in Brobaryn, had this to say yesterday about a conference he had with Gov. Odell on Friday:

"The Governor kept me talking with him for three-quarters of an hour. All I can say about it is that Gov. Odell wants to bring about a more harmonious feeling between the country and the city Republi-cars.

"He is working very hard with that purpose in view, and I believe that his presence in New York has no other significance."

Col. James D. Bell is said to be slated for the chairmanship of the new Democratic county committee in Brooklyn, which meets for organization on Dec. 1. He was one of the first district leaders to join the standard of Senator McCarren. He served as head of the county committee for several years.

Col. Bell was a police commissioner in Brooklyn prior to consolidation. He is prominent in the Grand Army.

Contesting the Election of Mayor in the New City of Fulton. UTICA, Nov. 21.-Before Justice Rogers at a Special Term of the Supreme Court to-day the matter of the recent Mayoralty election in the newly incorporated city of Fulton, in Oswego county, was up for argument. At the late election there, M. L. Thompson, Democratic candidate for Mayor, had a majority of 8 on the face of the returns, but his Republican opponent, George W. Brucker, was declared elected by the Common Council as a canvassing board, received his certificate of election and has been sworn in as Mayor. and has been sworn in as Mayor. Applica-tion was made in behalf of Mr. Thompson for a mandamus compelling the recanvass-ing of 43 alleged void ballots. The Court took the papers.
